FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLORADO

In re:

ASTRA VEDA CORPORATION,

Debtor.

Case No. 25-14283-KHT

Chapter 7

OBJECTION OF CREDITOR JAMES MICHAEL DAVIS TO PROOF OF CLAIM NO. 1-1 OF TODD BASZUCKI

I. INTRODUCTION AND STANDING

Creditor James Michael Davis ("Davis"), in his capacity as Assignee and Creditor Representative of Penobscot Enterprises International, Inc. ("PEI") and as an individual creditor, respectfully submits this Objection to Proof of Claim No. 1-1 filed by Todd Baszucki ("Baszucki") on 15 October 2025. Under 11 U.S.C. § 502(a) and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3007, Davis, as a party in interest, has standing to object to any claim that is unenforceable or inequitable. This objection seeks to disallow or, alternatively, equitably subordinate the claim asserted by Baszucki in the amount of $309,815.41, which he describes as "money loaned for legal services."

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Astra Veda Corporation ("Astra") is a Wyoming-incorporated company operated and managed primarily from Colorado. Todd Baszucki, conceivably acting through his California-based company Bella Vista Enterprises, LLC ("Bella Vista"), made payments from California directly to Scott Eppinga and Crowley Fleck PLLP in Wyoming. None of these payments originated from Astra Veda's accounts or its Colorado operations, nor were they requested or recorded by Astra's board or officers.

In December 2024, following Astra's notice of intent to file bankruptcy, Todd Baszucki—working with shareholder and social media advocate Brian Walton and attorney Scott Gibson—arranged to pay Scott Eppinga's Wyoming legal award judgment directly. Those payments were structured as follows: $100,000 on December 18, 2024; $50,000 on January 15, 2025; $50,000 on February 15, 2025; $50,000 on March 15, 2025; and a final $21,315.41 on April 15, 2025.

Each payment was wired directly to Eppinga or his counsel's trust account, not through Astra or PEI. At no time did Astra Veda request, adopt, or record these payments as corporate debt. In fact, (3) three of the (7) seven payments in Mr. Baszucki's Form 410 were not paid to Astra but to a property development holding company owned by Davis.

Baszucki later recharacterized the payments in his Proof of Claim No. 1-1 as loans to Astra for "legal services."

III.LEGAL ARGUMENT

A. Claim Not Enforceable (11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1))

The alleged debt is unenforceable because the payments were voluntary, unsupported by consideration, and not authorized by Astra. Under Wyoming and Colorado law, a unilateral or volunteer payment made without an express agreement does not create a recoverable obligation. See Wyo. Stat. § 34-1-101 et seq.; Glover v. Giraldo, 226 P.3d 1249 (Colo. App. 2010). Because Astra never executed any loan agreement, Baszucki's Proof of Claim No. 1-1 must be disallowed.

B. Equitable Subordination (11 U.S.C. § 510(c))

Even if the Court were to find a colorable claim, it should be subordinated. Baszucki acted as an insider and controlling investor of Ballistic Barrier Products (BBP) and Bella Vista Enterprises. His payments were made to protect BBP and himself from liability exposure, not to assist Astra or its creditors. Allowing his claim to stand would reward inequitable insider conduct and harm legitimate creditors. The payments were for a judgement not legal services.

C. Volunteer Doctrine and Lack of Consideration

Baszucki was a volunteer. His January 9, 2025 email to Davis expressly states: "I decided to step up and handle these legal fees myself... this pretty much ends Astra's biggest legal threat." This admission proves the payments were personal, self-directed acts, not loans. Neither Astra's board nor its Colorado management authorized or recorded any obligation to repay him. Under both Wyoming and Colorado contract law, a voluntary payment does not create a debt.

IV.RELIEF REQUESTED

WHEREFORE, Creditor James Michael Davis respectfully requests that the Court: (1) Disallow Proof of Claim No. 1-1 filed by Todd Baszucki in its entirety; (2) Alternatively, equitably subordinate said claim under 11 U.S.C. § 510(c); and (3) Grant such other and further relief as the Court deems just.
